

What is the Training Lifecycle?

The training lifecycle is the process for developing, delivering, and managing a training product or service. It is represented in a circle because the process never really finishes. Even after you teach a course, you still want to improve it. The circle shows the ongoing nature of the learning solution's life.

